

I personally believe that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. My home has seen a drastic reduction in the number of telemarketing calls since I have signed up for Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. Among the telemarketing calls that I recieved most often before the telephone privacy law was every phone company calling asking me to switch my services. I am completely happy with Indiana's existing law.